[From a Denver Paper.]

Miners and others who have settled in the San Juan country, [which embraces about 200 miles square] or upon other portions of the Ute reservation, will find the subjoined of very great importance to them. Secretary Delano, of the linterior department, writes W. W. Belknap, Secdepartment, writes W. W. Belknap, Secretary of War, saying that all persons on the Ute reservation in Colorade are, in his opinion, wrongfully there, and should be removed therefrom. He therefore requested that the proper officers of the War Department be directed to notify the intruders that they must leave the reservation on or before the first day of April, 1873, and that at the expiration of that period, if they still remain, the order for their removal will be promptly enforced.

This request was approved by the Secretary of War, on the 15th of February, and refered to General Sherman, who in turn refered the same to General Sheriturn referred the same to General Sheri-den, commanding the Department of the den commanding the Department of the Missouri, with instructions to see the same carried out. General Sheriden re-fered the instructions to the Command-ing General of the Department of the Missouri, with orders to carry out the same, adding in conclusion that it deems it best to direct the intruders begiven unfirst of June to leave the reservation. Upon the strength of this Gener-al Pope addressed a communication to the commanding officer of the district of New Mexico, ordering him to send dis-creet messengers with written notifications to warn the miners, prospectors, etc., refered to, that they must leave the Ute reservation before the first of June, Ute reservation before the first of June, and that a military force will be present at that time to enforce the immediate removal of such of them as may not have complied with this notification. The district commander will assure houself that this warning is communicated to all the parties concerned as soon as possible.

INTERLUDES.

Organists usually like interludes, as much as clergymen generally detest them. The latter will therefore appreciate this extract from an article in Brainard's Musical Times.

Brainard's Musical Times.

In the matter of interludes there is more room for improvement than in almost any other part of the nusic services of the "House of the ord." As played in almost every church in the land, interludes are simply a thoroughly numitigated nuisance. The organist starts off the instant the last note of the tune has been sung, into all kinds of musical acrobatics, introducing flourishes and cadenzas and nauseum, and frequently makes his interludes as long or longer denzas ad naussam, and frequently makes his interludes as long or longer than the tune itself. Anything more in-congruous and out of place it were hard to find. Better no interludes at all than to not. Better no interduces at al. than such miserable abortions. The interlude, properly played, is useful. It affords the choir and congregation a moment's rest—a breathing place in which they may glance at the sentiment of the following verse, and thus be able to express the same intelligently. To this end, the interlude should be plain and simple almost to meagreness, never more than four measures long, and completely harmonizing in time, structural meter and color with the tune itself. Such interludes are a help to the worship, and

BE ECONOMICAL. - Look most to your spending. No matter what comes in, if spending. No matter what comes in, if more goes out, you will always be poor. The art is not in making money, but in keeping it; little expenses, like mice in a barn, when they are many, make great waste. Hair by hair, heads get bald; straw by straw, the thatch goes off the cottage; and drop by drop the rain comes in the chamber. A barrel is soon empty if the tan leaks only a drop a minute. When you mean to save, begin with your month, as many thieves pass down the red lane. The ale jug is a great waste. In all other things keep within compass. Never stretch your legs further than your blankets will reach, or you will soon be cold. In clothes, choose suitable and lasting staff, and not tawdry fineries. To be warm is the main thing; never mind the looks. A fool may make money, but it needs a wise man to spend the tap leaks only a drop a minute money, but it needs a wise man to spend it. Remember it is easier to build two chimneys than to keep one going. If you give all to back and board, there is nothing left for the savings' bank. Fare hard and work h rd while you are young, and you will have a chance to rest when you are old.

Wholesale Theatricals.—A big theater is talked of in Paris, to be built by a company with a capital of fifteen million francs. The house is to hold twenty thousand spectators, and to realize thirty thousand francs at each representation, an income allowing the best artists to be engaged. The orchestra is to be ton, an income allowing the best artists to be engaged. The orchestra is to be concealed from the audience, as in the Bayreuth Theater, now being built under the direction of Richard Wagner. Several American speculators are said to be mixed up in the enterprise.

THE ex-Vice President of the Confedcracy is thus described by an irreverent newspaper reporter: "Alexander H. Ste-phens amerged from the Kimball House, wrapped up in three overcoats and a loose blanket. The bundle, with a white head sticking out, was put in a carriage head sticking out, was put in a carriage right end up and propped in position. The bundle then coughed and said it was all right, and away the carriage rolled to the Capitol, where it was taken out and unrolled, and unrolled until Mr. Stephens was found."

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal emission is the consequence of self-abuse. This solitary vice, or depraved sexual indulgence, is practiced by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing with unerring certainty the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combatted by scientific medical measures, viz: Sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves or ratting of chariots, uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in appreaching strangers, a disposition to shun society, less of memory, pinples and various cruptions about the face, hectic flushes, furred tongue, fortid breath, coughs, consumption, night sweats, monomania and frequently insanity. If relief be not obtained, you should apply immediately, either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating disease, which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure.
